The villa boasts three bedrooms, the two doubles have king size beds, large fitted wardrobes, en suite bathrooms and the twin bedded room has fitted wardrobes, a bathroom opposite. A cot and highchair can be provided for a small charge, all linen/towels are provided except for beach towels and the linen for the cot. The views from Villa Indira are exceptional both during the day and at night with all the lights twinkling across Playa Blanca making it a very romantic location. Villa Indira is situated just a 5 minute drive from the centre of Playa Blanca and surrounding beaches, there is a bus service and taxi rank just a 5 minute walk from the villa and also a small supermarket for essentials. Playa Blanca is a wonderful resort for families and couples, with excellent restaurants and bars lining the promenade along the sea front this stretches for a couple of miles - ideal for those who like a stroll but also enjoy sitting and watching the world go by!! The shopping is also very good with many small boutiques offering everything from perfume to holiday knick knacks - a great place to go on Wednesday and Saturday mornings is the market at Marina Volcan it is well worth a visit. If you can tear yourself away from the heated pool and comfortable villa you will find plenty to do in Playa Blanca and on the island of Lanzarote. ACTIVITIES Windsurfing Boat Hire Scuba Diving Horse Riding Go-Karting Golf Surfing Fishing Sailing EXCURSIONS Timanfaya- Fire Mountains Tegui Market Museum of the Campesino Los Jameos del Agua Fundación César Manrique. Land of fire and sea, barren moonscape and luxury development, Lanzarote is the most northerly and unusual of the seven Canary Islands, and the most exclusive. Lanzarote lies roughly 29 degrees north of the Equator, and 13 degrees west of Greenwich, just 95 km off the coast of Africa. Only about 45km long and around 18km wide at its widest point, The Island is famous for its dramatic lunar landscape of almost 300 volcanoes and less than 4 hours flying time from the UK to your Holiday villa in Lanzarote. Nowhere else will you find the wonderful combination of sub-tropical heat and cooling breezes, stunning views, every kind of activity to suit all ages and a superb climate. Ideal for a holiday villa in Lanzarote. The Island enjoys year round high temperatures, more days of sunshine and fewer days of rain than the other Canary Islands. Although Summer temperatures can be in the high 20's these are always tempered by cooling sea breezes - ideal for sunbathing and sport during the day and comfortable in the evenings for relaxing over a leisurely meal in your Lanzarote villa or a drink at one of the many bars and restaurants. If there is one thing which you will probably remember above everything else after your stay in Lanzarote villas with pool, it will be the beaches. Whether you think of the startling golden white sand and azure seas of the Playa Blanca peninsula (papagayo), or the long sweeping golden beaches of Puerto del Carmen, the beaches of Lanzarote are among the best in the world. There are dozens of them, and you will find people often reluctant to describe the beach which is truly their favourite. The warm clear waters of the Atlantic never fall below 18°C even in Winter and are ideal for scuba diving, snorkelling, fishing or just swimming in. The 5 Lanzarote villas with pool are close to all these amenities. If you are interested in exploring the Island there is plenty to see from your Lanzarote villa base. From the extraordinary lava fields of the Timanfaya National Park with the Fire Mountain camel trek, to the tranquil underground cave lake at Jameos del Agua. The cliff top views of the tiny island of La Graciosa from Mirador Del Rio are as spectacular as the long, unspoilt beaches to the south are magnificent. An insight into the Island's history and culture can be gained by visiting Tegui, the original capital of the island, Haria in the fertile Valley of 1000 palms, and some of the tiny country villages where life has hardly changed this century.

Choosing a villa in Lanzarote will give you and your family a truly wonderful holiday.
